REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. This is an Examiner's statement of reasons for allowance. The closest prior art Fisher et al U.S. Pat. No. 6,243,691 discloses a system/method for conducting a multi-person (or in-person), interactive auction.

JP02005050288A Muhammad Sheikh Kaizer discloses a system/method for enabling sellers and buyers in the world to conduct direct negotiations.

Bais Bruno et al discloses a daily call auction to a computerized limit order market in which trading occurs continuously from 10 AM to 5PM. The opening price at 10 AM is determined by a call auction. Prior to this call auction, a sequence of tentative call auctions occurs before the opening, in order to facilitate the price discovery process.

However, neither Fisher nor Muhammad and Bias Bruno singularly or in combination fail to disclose the recited feature:

As per claims 1 and 5" during the live, in-person auction, performing a live auction process including, updating, in the online environment, bidding information associated with the item, the updated bidding information to reflect a current bid associated with the item in the live, in-person auction, receiving a maximum bid amount from one of the online bidders, and submitting a proxy bid to the live, in-person auction on behalf of the online bidder, the proxy bid submitted against one or more live bidders that are participating in the live, in-person auction, the proxy bid based on the maximum bid amount" .

As per claim 4 " choosing as the starting bid a highest bid from the bids received, communicating the starting bid for the item to the live, in-person auction, and performing a live, in-person auction process during the live, in-person auction".
